

THE GAS KETTLE

A long time ago the makers of gas stoves worked hard to figure out ways to get people to use gas instead of electricity. They invented the Simplex Patent "Quick Boiling" Copper Kettle. They added many new things to the kettle so that it heated water faster and better. It can also be used on an electric stove. It doesn't work as well as it does on a gas stove. You can still buy one of these kettles today. They are very popular.
